Wednesday, June 28 1704

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 28.

Rome, June 3.

THE 28th of Last Month, the Pope sent Signior Passionei his Secretary in Cyphers, to Cardinal Janson, and the Count of Lamberg the Emperor's Ambassador, to declare to them that he had taken a Resolution to Excommunicate the Generals of the Troops of both Parties that are entred into the Ferrareze, in case they refuse to march out of that Province within the Term they should agree with Cardinal Aſſalbi Legate of Ferraza; and that his Holiness was determin'd to joyn his Troops with those that should comply with his Orders, to drive out the others.

Venice, June 7. The Advices from Legnano inform us, that the Imperialists have been at work these 3 Weeks to fortify themselves in the Veroneze, at Carpi, at the Head of the Canal Blanco, at Castagnara, and at Baruchella, at which Places they have made Redoubts and Intrenchments strengthen'd with Pallisadoes and Ditches. They are working likewise to Intrench themselves in the Valleys of the Ferrareze. Count Konigseck who commands in Mirandola, apprehending to be reduc'd to want of Provisions, has signified by Proclamation, that all the Inhabitants who are minded to go out of that Town, shall have liberty so to do, and to carry with them their Moveables and Money, on Condition they leave their Corn and other Provisions behind them. Several Families have taken the Benefit of this Permission, and are retir'd into the Ferrareze. The Advices from Ponteba on the Frontier of Carinthia tell us, that the Envoy of the Elector of Bavaria, who was stop'd there in his return homeward from Turin, notwithstanding he had Passports from the Duke of Savoy and Count Staremberg, has at length obtain'd Liberty to pursue his Journey to Munich with his Baggage; but that the 3000 Pistoles which were seiz'd and taken from him are unjustly detain'd.

From the Camp at Lebiola, June 8. The 5th of this Month the Grand Prior of France having resolv'd to attack the Towers of Serravalle, which cover Ostiglia and are the chief Defence of it, sent the Count of Praslin to Mantua to bring hither 24 Pieces of Cannon for Battery, 7 Mortars, &c. He gave Order likewise for the Bridge at San Benedetto to be brought down hither, that he might have a Communication with the Marqueſs of St. Fremont who commands on the other side of the Po; he order'd the arm'd Gallions and several other Boats to be brought down likewise. To day the Artillery and Ammunitions arriv'd, and tomorrow a Bridge of Boats will be made, in order for passing over to the Island of Mezan, which is form'd by Marshes and Canals. Three Batteries will be thrown up in that Island, to batter the Towers of Serravalle and the Works about them.

From the Camp before Vercelli, June 15. The Trenches were to have been open'd the 11th in the Night, but it was deferr'd because of the difficulty of bringing up the Artillery and Ammunitions necessary. Yesterday all being ready, the Duke of Vendome resolv'd to attack the 2 Bastions of the Gate of Milan, which are a Musquet Shot distant from the Sefia; so last Night the Trenches were open'd, and carried on to within a 100 or 120 Fathom of the Palisadoes; the Enemy not firing one Shot. This Morning they made a great Fire, but without doing any Execution, because the Workmen were all cover'd. 5 Batteries of 6 Pieces of Cannon each will be got ready with all Diligence on the other side of the Sefia, to batter the right Bastion and the Half Moon. The Count de las Torres, will carry on a 2d Attack with 20 Pieces of Cannon, against the Gate of Turin. In an Intercepted Letter written by the Duke of Savoy to the Sieur des Hayes Governour of Vercelli, his Royal Highness order'd him to make Intrenchments behind the Bastions that should be attack'd, and throw up other Trenches cross the Streets of the Town, in order to defend it to the last Extremity, because the Preservation of his Dominions depended on the holding out of this Place. We have advice from Turin of the 10th Instant, that the Count of Castellamonte is intrenching himself at St. Ambroise and Veilane to shut up the Entrance into the Valley of Suza, and hinder the King's Troops from advancing to Turin. Workmen are actually employ'd in demolishing Bersello on the Po, the Materials of the Fortifications of that Place will be made use of to fortify Viadana, which stands over against it; and to augment the Fortifications of Guastalla.

From the Paris Gazette a la Main, dated June 27.

Paris, June 27. We are in Expectation of the Success of the Grand Prior of France against the Towers of Serravalle, having receiv'd Advice, that the Trenches were open'd the 15th; and that one of the Towers is already ruin'd; but 'tis presum'd the overflowing of the Po has retarded this Enterprize. The overflowing of the Sefia which happen'd the 16th, and was occasion'd by the melting of the Snows, caus'd some delay in the Siege of Vercelli; but the Duke of Vendome, notwithstanding this Flood, has caus'd the Works to be carried on with so much Vigour, that the 19th in the Morning they were advanc'd within 16 Fathoms of the Contrescarp; 40 Pieces of Cannon were planted on Batteries, had dismounted several of the Enemies Guns, and ruin'd some of their Fortifications; and we had till that day but 50 Men disabled in the Siege. The Flood we have mention'd broke down all the Bridges on the upper and lower Sefia, as likewise the Bridges at Casal and Trino on the Po, the Enemies 2 Bridges at Crescentino were carried away by the Force of the Stream likewise. The Duke de la Feuillade made some Motions as if he had a Design to attempt to beat the Enemies from Veilane, but he march'd directly to Pignerol; 'tis said he has possess'd himself of the Hill of St. Bridger, and that he will fortifie it, that he may be Master of the Valley of Pragelas, and open himself a Passage into the Valley of Turin.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated July 4.

Turin, June 27. The 12th we receiv'd Advice that the Garrison of Suza had been forc'd to Capitulate. They had all Marks of Honour granted them, 2 Pieces of Cannon, 2 Mortars, and 25 Waggon Loads of Baggage. The Count of Castellamonte with the Body of Troops he commands is encamp'd at Veilane, he has set Men to work to throw up a Line from St. Ambroise to Buzzolino. The 15th at Night the Garrison of Suza arriv'd here with 2 Cannon, 2 Mortars, and some Waggons. The Officers that were wounded and disabled, were left at Suza, where care is taken of them by Order of the Duke of Feuillade.

The

The 16th the Officers that commanded in the Fort of Suza, were seiz'd and carried Prisoners into our Citadel; their Conduct in defending that Place will be examin'd; and 'tis talk'd one of them will be tried by a Court Martial, he being charg'd with not doing his Duty in the Defence of the Brunette, and of retiring too hastily to Alpignana. We have Advice that the Trenches were open'd before Vercelli the 15th; and that the overflowing of the Po has broken our 2 Bridges of Communication between Crescentino and Verue, and ruin'd a little Fort that defended them; which has much incommoded our Camp.

Paris, June 28. The King wrote the following Letter to the Cardinal de Noailles, on occasion of the taking of Suza.

Cousin,
THE Town and Castle of Suza were reduc'd to my Obedience the 12th of this Month, by the Army that is commanded by my Cousin the Duke de la Feuillade, notwithstanding the vain Efforts the Duke of Savoy made to relieve that Place. This first Advantage that I have gain'd over that Prince since he forc'd me to turn my Arms against him, obliges me to render Thanks to God, and beg of him the Continuation of his Assistance in other Enterprizes that I may form. Wherefore I write this Letter to acquaint you that my Intention is, you cause Te Deum to be sung, &c.

Venice, June 21. The 19th the French began to cannonade the 2 Towers of Serravalle, and the Intrenchments of the Imperialists from 5 Batteries, one of which is at a little distance from Revere; and they have made several Detachments towards Sanguinetto, Carpi, and Castagnara, to give Work to the Forces of the Imperialists: But the latter make Head against them boldly, and have made the best Dispositions they are able, to render Fruitless the Attempts of the French. The Count de Leiningen, the new General of the Imperialists, is arriv'd in the Camp at Ostiglia, and has brought with him a considerable Sum of Money for the Service of the Imperial Army. They expect 2 Regiments of Horse from Tyrol, besides 4000 Foot Recruits who are coming to them from the Upper Austria; for which Reason the Marquis Davia is gone back to Pescantina to secure their Passage.
